

Summer Camps & Play Schemes

Working in a camp over the summer is a great way to gain paid work experience with children and young people, meet other people and often to experience a different country at the same time.

Summer camps are very popular in the US, but there are also residential language schools in the UK, which offer opportunities for students.

Jobs include Activity leader, Camp Counsellor, Camp support staff, and Teaching English opportunities for those who are suitably qualified.

There may also be opportunities to work with children in travel company holiday clubs, and nannying or au pairing abroad.

Summer Camps Abroad

Summer camps in the US and Europe regularly recruit UK students and graduates. Many work as a Camp Counsellor, where they are responsible for a small group of children, with instructor roles available for those with specific skills or coaching qualifications.

Others might work in camp support such as in the kitchens. The terms and conditions vary between the organisations and it is important to check these out. In general, you will have to pay a programme fee that will include application and visa, and sometimes also flights. You live in the camp free of charge and earn 'pocket money' when you are there. There is often the opportunity to go travelling after your period in camp is over.
